NEW ONSLAUGHT ON STALINGRAD

RUSSIANS ADVANCE AT VORONEZH

MARSHAL TIMOSHENKO'S forces, under pressure of a tremendous German tank and air onslaught, have had to make a new withdrawal south-west of Stalingrad, where, according to Reuter, the German wedge has been widened. Paris radio said last night that German mobile troops had reached the Volga 15 miles south of Stalingrad.

German radio last night admitted a Soviet penetration of the German positions north of Stalingrad, but claimed that the Russians were driven out in counter-attacks.

South of Voronezh, Soviet troops are continuing their advance, despite violent German resistance, and are repeatedly attacking the German lines south of Lake Ladoga, at Leningrad, and along the whole Karelian isthmus.

As the danger to Stalingrad increases, the German menace to the Black Sea ports has also grown, and Reuter states that German troops have now reached the distant approaches to Novorossisk.

DRIVE FOR BLACK SEA BASE

MOSCOW, Thursday — Reuter's Correspondent here says that the Germans, in an all-out effort to smash the defences of Stalingrad, are hurling in hundreds of tanks and aircraft in one of the most terrific onslaughts on any part of the front this year. Two hundred tanks, backed by several divisions of fresh infantry sereserves, are pounding at the defences south-west of the city in an attempt to widen the wedge driven in three days ago. The German assault was preceded by a furious bombardment by aircraft guns and trench mortars, which began at dawn and went on for 1½ hours, and every three hours the Germans flung in fresh and fully-rested troops.

Huge concentrations of German aircraft are imposing a particularly heavy strain on the Russians, who have had to make further withdrawals in some sectors. Capture by the Russians of a small, but tactically important point commanding a high road and branch railway, is proving a great help to the north-western defences.

Fighting south-west of Stalingrad was described by an Isvestia correspondent to-day as "terrific in its ferocity." "Wherever the Germans are repulsed they regroup their forces and attack again, and are bringing up reinforcements from the deep rear. In one engagement they threw in 60 'planes and a strong force of tanks. Bombs rained down, and it seemed that not one of the men would survive, but our units had dug themselves in well, and the casualties were not overwhelming.

"Soviet troops are continuing their advance south of Voronezh, despite violent German resistance, said Moscow Radio last night."—(Reuter.)

NAVAL BASE THREAT

Reuter's Stockholm correspondent says:—"The Black Sea port of Novorossisk is now in serious danger. Germans and Rumanians, who are being continually reinforced, are pressing along the coast road from Anapa. Berlin reports show that, although progress is slow, it is dangerously steady. Advanced German units must now be between 15 and 20 miles from Novorossisk. Stuka dive-bombers are being used in large numbers to smash the strongly-built Russian strong points in cliffs and rocks. The other German thrust towards Novorossisk, along the railway from Krasnodar, has been momentarily checked.

"On the North Caucasus front, Russians appear to be still holding the German thrust towards the Grozny oilfields. A Vichy report today said that German forces, banked in their attempt to cross the Terek river at Mozdok, have branched off in a rapid drive for the Caspian port of Marach Kala. They are further said to have reached a point about 40 miles from the Caspian, but there is no confirmation of this claim from either German or Russian sources."

LONDON, Thursday.—To-day's German communiqué says: "South-east of Anapa several stubbornly-defended heights were taken by storm. At Novorossisk a motorboat and a minesweeper were sunk by bombs. German E-boats in the Black Sea sank two tankers, two steamships, and six large lighters, totalling 15,400 tons, out of a convoy.

"Near Stalingrad German and Rumanian troops, in close co-operation with the Luftwaffe, threw the enemy out of strongly-fortified pill-box positions. Counter-attacks were repulsed.

"South-west of Kalaga and north-west of Medyn, several enemy attacks were repulsed. In the area of Rzhev also enemy attacks by strong infantry and tank forces were repulsed. Army units and dive-bomber squadrons destroyed 109 Russian tanks. South of Lake Ladoga and in front of Leningrad repeated enemy attacks collapsed.

"On September 1 and 2 the Russian air force lost 184 'planes. Eight of our own 'planes failed to return."—(Reuter.)

Paris radio said to-night that German mobile troops have reached the Volga at Sarepta, 15 miles south of Stalingrad.—(Reuter.)

SOVIET COMMUNIQUE

MOSCOW, Thursday.—To-night's Soviet communiqué states:—"During September 3 our forces fought fierce engagements north-west and south-west of Stalingrad, and north-west of Novorossisk.

"North-west of Stalingrad stubborn fighting continues. In one sector advancing enemy tanks and infantry were repulsed by Soviet tank destroying forces. Eight tanks and 400 German dead were left on the battlefield. Two hours later the enemy resumed the attack on our positions and pressed our units back.

Violent fighting continued for river crossings in the area of Mozdok. Near a town north-west of Novorossisk Soviet troops retreated to new positions.

KARLSRUHE BOMBED

Describing an air raid by British bombers on Karlsruhe, the capital of the Province of Baden, and one of the main railway centres of the Upper Rhine, the Air Ministry News Service states that the fires which were burning after the bombing were enormous. They blazed in the docks as well as elsewhere in the town, and at the end of the attack the smoke became very dense. One pilot described the objective as "a flaming hell."

There were a number of combats. Near Karlsruhe a Wellington shot down two Junkers 88's within four minutes. Both were seen to explode on the ground.

Eight British bombers are missing.

Spitfires destroyed an ItaHan fighter over Malta yesterday afternoon without loss to themselves.—(Reuter.)

"GERMAN EFFORT FALTERING"

WAVELL CONFIDENT

NEW DELHI, Thursday.—General Wavell, in a broadcast to-night, told India: "The supreme German effort which we all anticipated has now been made. It has had some success, and is now beginning to falter. Despite all their conquests, they can find no peace.

"The shape of things to come was taking an even grimmer aspect for the Germans.

"The momentous conferences in Cairo and Moscow," he said, "were permeated with no feeling of depression whatever, but with inspiring confidence and courage. The moral and fighting spirit of our forces in the Middle East, where practically all the United Nations are represented, are undiminished, despite the set-backs in June, and their offensive power is making rapid recovery. The Russian soldiers' hardihood and courage are the same as ever. They will not give way.

"For Japan also the tide has turned. The run of quick and easy success is over. Both her fleet and her Air Forces are beginning to melt. Her dreams of prosperity at the expense of the rest of Asia are vanishing.

"Make no mistake—these 'writings on the walls' of our enemies are there for ever."

"Where does India stand? The danger to her homes is closer than it has been for more than 150 years. Her industrial progress in the making of munitions has been astonishing. To-day thousands of young Indian officers and over 1,000,000 men have joined up. It is not the politicians intent on domestic issues and quarrels, but the disciplined might of her fighting men that is saving, and will save, India. They must be helped and not betrayed."—(Reuter.)

According to the Associated Press General Wavell also said that the Allies entered the fourth year of the war with "much better prospects than at the similar period last year, but that the danger to India was nearer than at any time in the past 150 years.

POLICE SWOOP IN BELFAST

200 PEOPLE DETAINED

Over a hundred people have been taken into custody by the Northern police, following a dawn swoop on various districts in Belfast yesterday. They raided houses in the Falls road, Ardoyne, North Queen's street, the docks and the market areas, as well as Ballymacarett and Short Strand, an Irish Times reporter telegraphs.

Arriving in heavily-armed Lancia and cage cars, the police began their attacks at daybreak, and by yesterday evening the detained men had been taken to different stations in the city. A very large force of police was engaged, and the majority of the suspects were taken from their beds, their houses thoroughly searched, and the men, having been allowed to dress, were brought away under strong escort.

In one instance a man and his six sons were arrested, and several factory and dock workers have also been detained. Armoured cars with machine-guns are patrolling the streets in the Nationalist districts. It is believed that the arrests are a precautionary measure, following the execution on Wednesday of Thomas Williams for the murder of a Belfast constable in an Easter Sunday fracas.

ARMS DUMP CHARGE

A man who was on holiday in Bray, Co. Wicklow, when the police found the largest dump of firearms and explosives ever captured in Northern Ireland at Hannahstown on Monday, was among five men charged at a Special Court at Lisburn yesterday with possession of firearms and ammunition with intent to endanger life, and with having under their control machine-guns, grenades, detonators and other explosives.

The men—John R. McCaffrey, Francis McCaffrey, James McCaffrey, and Edward Jordan, of Budore, Dundrod, and Charles P. McDowell, of 14 College square, Belfast—were escorted by police armed with rifles from Belfast Jail to Lisburn.

Evidence was given that John McCaffrey said: "I accept full responsibility for all the articles found, and no other member of my family knew anything about them." McDowell and the others denied the charges. It was admitted by the police that James McCaffrey returned from Eire on Tuesday night, following a holiday in Bray, and called at Belfast Police Station when he heard that his brothers and sisters had been arrested.

Strong efforts to obtain bail were unsuccessful, and the men were remanded until September 17.

The raids were continued after black-out hours, and at midnight the number of persons detained had risen to 200.

BRITAIN'S DAY OF PRAYER

All Britain joined yesterday in prayer and dedication to mark the anniversary of the nation's entry into the war. While the Premier, accompanied by Mrs. Churchill and their daughter, Miss Mary Churchill, members of the Cabinet and of every branch of the forces attended a crowded Service at Westminster Abbey, workers in factory, office and workshop, and American troops paused to offer prayers.

The Duchess of Kent attended a special Service at St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle, last night. Among a large congregation of members of the Royal Household and townspeople were the Military Knights of Windsor, under the command of General Sir Charles Kavanagh. The Duchess, who motored over from the Coppins, Iver, Bucks, occupied a stall in the choir. The King and Queen, who are resting in the country, attended a day of National Prayer Service near where they are staying.

SUNK IN FAR EAST

A United States Navy communique, quoted by Reuter, states that in operations against the Japanese in Far Eastern waters (not related to recent operations in the Solomon Islands) United States submarines sank one Japanese light cruiser, two small freighters, one medium tanker and one small steamer. Two large tankers were damaged and one medium cargo ship was damaged and probably sunk.

ROOSEVELT TELLS YOUTH

"VICTORY IS NOT ENOUGH"

TO-DAY'S WARRIORS MUST FINISH THE JOB

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, in an address at the International Students' Assembly in Washington last night, declared: "Victory is essential, but victory is not enough for you—or for us. We must be sure when you have won victory that you will not have to tell your children you fought in vain—that you were betrayed.

"We must be sure," he said, "that in your home there will not be want; that in your school only the living truth will be taught; that in your church there may be preached, without fear, a faith wherein men may deeply believe.

"You are doing first things first—fighting to win this war, for you know that should this war be lost all our plans for the peace to follow would be meaningless."

SHAPING THE WORLD

"The better world for which you fight—and for which some of you give your lives—will not come merely because we shall have won the war," the President said. "It will not come merely because we wish very hard it would come. It will be made possible only by bold vision, intelligent planning and hard work. It cannot be brought about overnight, but only by years of effort and perseverance and unfaltering faith. You young soldiers and sailors, farmers and factory workers, artists and scholars, who are fighting your way to victory now, all of you will have taken your part in shaping that world. You will earn it by what you do now, but you will not attain it if you leave the job for others to do alone.

"When you lay aside your guns at the end of the war you cannot at the same time lay aside your duty to the future. There is complete unanimity of spirit among all youth, all kinds and kindreds, who fight to preserve or regain their freedom. In Norway, Holland, Belgium and France, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Serbia and Greece there is a fighting spirit that defies the harsh oppression, the barbarous cruelty and terrorism of the Nazi.

THE SNEERERS

"When the time comes for these peoples to rise, Hitler's New Order will be destroyed by the hands of its own victims. To-day the embattled youth of Russia and China are casting off the last links of ancient chains of imperial despotism which had bound them so long. This is a development of historic importance. It means the old term, 'Western civilisation,' no longer applies. World events and the needs of all humanity have joined the culture of Asia with the culture of Europe and the Americas to form, for the first time, a real world civilisation. We have profited by our past mistakes. This time we will know how to make full use of victory. This time the achievements of our fighting forces will not be thrown away by political cynicism and timidity and incompetence.

"There are still a handful of men and women who mock and sneer at the Four Freedoms and the Atlantic Charter. Some of them have financial power and give our enemies a false impression that they have a large following among our citizenry. They play petty politics in a world crisis. They fiddle with many sour notes while civilisation burns. We are deeply aware that we cannot achieve our goals early; but we of the United Nations have the technical means, the physical resources and, most of all, the adventurous courage and vision and will that are needed to build and sustain in the kind of world order which alone can justify the tremendous sacrifices now being made by our youth.

WORK AND FIGHT

"We must keep at it. We must never relax, never falter, never fear, and we must keep at it together. We must maintain the offensive against evil in all its forms. We must work and we must fight to ensure that our children shall have and enjoy in peace their inalienable rights to freedom of speech, freedom of religions, freedom from want and freedom from fear. Only on those bold terms can this total war resolve in total victory."

Delegates representative of twenty-nine of the United Nations—including Britain, America, the Soviet Union and China—heard the President describe the campaign of "growing hate and complete falsehood" with which the Axis radio had referred to the Assembly during the past week. Our listening stations report, he said, "that they expect at this moment the air in all Axis-dominated nations will be quite thoroughly jammed—blacked out—in order that no sound of what I am saying either in English or in translation will be heard by any restless young people who are under Hitler's heel."

CAUSE OF YOUTH

"For many years our enemies have made their hypocritical appeal to youth—they have tried with all their blatant publicity to represent themselves as the champions of youth. But now the world knows the Nazis, the Fascists and the militarists of Japan have nothing to offer youth except death. On the other hand, the cause of the United Nations is the cause of youth itself. This fact was becoming clearer every day to the young people of Europe, on whom Hitler was trying to impose the Nazi pattern by a 'form of mental forcible feeding.' But the 'decent youth' of Europe preferred to face the firing squad rather than a lifetime of slavery under Hitler, and the Quisling Youth movements were but movements of youth by tens of thousands as cannon fodder on the Eastern front. The heroic youth of China knew that Japan's promise of 'Asia for the Asiatics' was only a means by which all creation is enslaved by the Japanese.

To the several million American soldiers, sailors and marines in America and various parts of the world the President addressed a special message from their Commander-in-Chief and from the very hearts of their countrymen.

"We here at home are supremely conscious of our obligations to you now and in the future. We will not let you down. We know that in the minds of many of you are thoughts of interrupted education, interrupted careers, delayed opportunities for getting a job. The solution to such problems cannot be left, as it was the last time, to mere chance. This Government has accepted the responsibility for seeing to it that, wherever possible, work has been provided for those who were willing and able, but who could not find work. That responsibility will continue after the war, and when you come home we do not propose to involve you, as last time, in a domestic economic mess of our making."—(Reuter.)

The German Youth Leader, Balder von Schirach, is to reply to-day to President Roosevelt's speech, says the German News Agency.—(Reuter.)

SPANISH CABINET RE-SHUFFLE

SENOR SUNER GOES

SENOR SERRANO SUNER, General Franco's Foreign Minister, has been replaced by General Francisco Gomez Jordana, it was officially announced in Madrid yesterday, according to the German News Agency. General Jordana was General Franco's first Foreign Minister, assuming this post when the Nationalist Government was set up on January 31, 1938.

Other changes in the Spanish Cabinet include: General Asensio replaces General Varela as War Minister; Senor Blaso Perez replaces Senor Esteban Bilbao as Minister of Justice. In the Falange General Franco himself takes over from Senor Suner the direction of its Political Committee; General Asensio, new War Minister, becomes a member of the Committee, and Senor More Figueros is appointed Vice-Secretary-General in place of Senor Luna.

Reuter's Madrid Correspondent states that General Franco has relieved Señor Serrano Suner of his post as Spanish Foreign Minister in a big Cabinet-Falange re-shuffle officially announced yesterday.

Sixty-six years old General Jordana came into conflict with the Republican Government, and was imprisoned. When civil war broke out in July, 1936, he at once embraced General Franco's cause, and became President of the High Court of Military Justice. He was General Franco's Minister of Foreign Affairs in the first Nationalist Government, set up on January 31, 1938. Ramon Serrano Suner is General Franco's brother-in-law, has been his Foreign Minister since October 17, 1940. After Madrid fell in April, 1939, he accompanied the Italian Legionaries back to Italy. Following the Franco-Spanish frontier meeting between Herr Hitler and General Franco in October, 1940, Señor Suner was received by Herr Hitler at Berchtesgaden. His last political trip abroad was last June, in Paris he was met by the German Envoy Abetz, in Rome he conferred with Signor Mussolini. It was rumoured that the restoration of the Spanish Monarchy, the formation of a Latin bloc and the handing over of French Morocco to Spain were discussed.

Last Saturday Señor Suner conferred with the German, American and Portuguese Ambassadors. When he took over the Foreign Ministry he declared that it would be dominated by the Falange, and that his appointment signified Spain's acceptance of the "new order."—(Reuter.)

SMALL CHEQUES

USE UNLIMITED IN EIRE

A proposal made in banking circles in England to eliminate the drawing of small cheques for the payment of tradesmen's bills and other small accounts is not likely to be adopted in this country.

"Anybody can write a cheque for as small an amount as he wishes," the Secretary of an Irish bank said yesterday.

Several of the reasons for this banking reform, which obtain in Great Britain, do not reproduce themselves in Eire. The need for releasing man-power, for example, is not a problem. Neither is the need for restricting the drawing of cheques with the object of economising in the use of paper, because, owing to the foresight of the printers, very large quantities of the special quality of paper required are available for the use of Irish banks.

On the other hand, there are well-founded objections to this scheme for setting a fixed minimum for which cheques can be drawn. Too definite a ruling in the matter could quite easily tend to the discouragement of the banking habit. A prominent business man expressed himself yesterday in complete disagreement with the suggestion. "I think," he said, "that all bills, great and small, should, whenever possible, be paid by cheque. It is a certain guarantee against being charged a second time for a bill, as a cheque is one of the safest forms of receipt."

RED ARMY FORCES RIVER CROSSING

INVASION OF BLUE TERRITORY BEGUN

FROM AN "IRISH TIMES" REPORTER.

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH, Thursday.

AN invasion of Blue territory has begun. A large force of Reds has crossed the dividing river and taken over a large piece of ground. By building a trestle bridge the Reds have brought across numerous armoured fighting vehicles, and now are threatening the east flank of Blues territory.

The crossing was completed after dark through the tan of the men's faces. But the grins are not hard two other crossings, which had been attempted as diversions, had been foiled by the defenders. Fording the river at two points, small Red units held some ground on the south side of the river, but strong Blue counter-attacks mopped them up in a short while.

In the meantime the biggest action of the "war" so far was going on several miles down-stream. Here a strong Red force, at 7 a.m., attacked a town held by the Blues, at a bridge driving the defenders out. The Reds were unable to prevent them from blowing up the bridge. The building of a new bridge was begun, however, and soon the first of the armoured vehicles was trundling across. Machine-guns and mortars were rushed over and into commanding positions.

During the building of the bridge the Red spearhead had been driving the Blues out of the south side of the river valley, and eliminating danger to the bridge-builders as far as possible. They suffered severe casualties in the process, the Blues selling every yard of ground as dearly as possible.

This Red landing constitutes a considerable threat to the east flank of the Blues, and when I travelled along the river bank during the morning strong reinforcements of Blues were coming up to try to prevent the invaders from improving their hold on the ground won.

COMING BIG BATTLE

A big battle to the eastward seems certain in the next few hours, when large forces of Blue will be in a position to attempt the driving out of the invaders.

The diversion crossings of the river, which proved so successful, cost the Reds a number of men. One crossing was made by wading the river; the other was a more serious attempt, and if it had been successful the advantage to the Reds would have been considerable. A pontoon bridge was begun, and was about three-quarter-way complete when it came under Blue artillery fire, and was "destroyed."

Smaller crossings also have been made in the past two days by both sides, and a very considerable infiltration of troops into both territories is noticeable. Along one road on the south side of the river I met small parties of both Red and Blue troops, and several minor engagements took place. The Blues commanded a section of a railway line overlooking the road, and their machine-gunners continually had small Red positions in full view. A number of the attackers were wiped out in this way, and the sound of rifle and machine-gun fire was almost continuous along ten or twelve miles of the road. Air reconnaissance is continuous, and the sound of 'planes is so familiar that one is more apt to remark its absence.

A TOUGH JOB

To-day the troops got their first taste of big action, and although they had had an extremely strenuous three days, with little or no sleep, their enthusiasm during the capture of the bridgehead almost led me to believe that fresh men had been used for the job. It was a tough job, and although this is only a mimic war the men took it almost as seriously as if they were fighting for their lives. The seriousness is relaxed when things are quiet, but only in small matters.

Constant alertness and readiness for action are the weapons against surprise, and when a soldier changes wet socks for dry, or sits down to eat a four-inch thick sandwich, he has his rifle beside him, and all his equipment on. It is at such a time that the strain of the past days shows.

UNEVENTFUL DAY IN DESERT

LONDON, Thursday.—Reuter's Special Correspondent in Cairo cables: "To-day was described as an uneventful day in the desert. There were no major operations.

"The German tank columns withdrew this morning from part of the area into which they had been pushing since dawn on Monday.

"All day until dusk on September 2 British fighters and light bombers were incessantly active over the Western desert battle area," states the R.A.F. Middle East News Service. "Two Me. 109s were early victims, but the main feature in the air during the morning was the bombing by both sides. By midday six heavily escorted raids by our bombers had been carried out against the enemy's armoured forces. Photographs show scores of accurate bomb bursts in the middle of large enemy concentrations. Our bombing attacks met with considerable opposition throughout the day from heavy and concentrated anti-aircraft fire and from enemy fighters.

'PLANES DOWN

"In one attack bombs fell among enemy troops who were already being shelled by our land forces. The total score of aircraft at the end of the day was eight ME. 109's, one Macchi 202 and six JU. 87's destroyed. Our losses were ten aircraft. During the night of September 2-3 the R.A.F. carried out concentrated attacks in the battle area, and heavy bombs fell among tanks and motor transport. The El Daba area was subjected to a particularly heavy attack.

The Axis communiqués to-day reported intense patrol activity, and stated that the British lost 51 tanks, 39 armoured cars and 24 'planes, while five Italian 'planes are missing.—(Reuter.)

DEER CAPTURED

One hundred and fifty of the Phœnix Park deer have been captured—100 bucks and 50 does.

Leaping over the cordon of spectators, bicycles and horsemen, the herd scattered through the Park, eventually forming into four distinct groups. Break-throughs occurred at the Dépôt, Chapelizod Gate, and the American Legation. Finally, the doomed contingent found the ring of hunters closing in upon them, and raced straight into the corral. The gate was dropped too soon as the last doe ran through. It broke her back. She was immediately shot.

ATTACK ON DUBLIN CANON

When an elderly clergyman—a Canon of the Church of Ireland—and his wife were walking along Suffolk street, Dublin, last night, a man rushed at them from a doorway and attacked them with a stick. Another elderly man — a passer-by — intervened, and was severely injured about the head by the man with the stick. The clergyman's wife was also injured on both hands.

A small crowd gathered, but the man who made the attack was hustled away, apparently by a friend, before the Civic Guards arrived.

"THE VERDICT WAS—"

MISADVENTURE

Acting as a kind of itinerant coroner, an Irish Times reporter went round Dublin yesterday seeking expert evidence on the death of the large duck found strangled in Herbert Park with a convolvulus plant tight around its neck. As described in yesterday's Irish Times, it was found on an islet in the middle of the park pond with a hatching of fifteen eggs under it.

Dr. Robert Praeger, the eminent Dublin botanist, was inclined to support an open verdict. He had never heard of anything remotely resembling this case, he said, and if he had heard it as a story he would have disbelieved it. He had to admit, however, that the details as given in the park gardener's evidence yesterday almost made it sound feasible.

Lieutenant-Colonel A. E. Doherty, a former Superintendent of the Dublin "Zoo," said he thought that the duck's death was compatible with its having received injuries in the manner described by the gardener—namely, that it had poked its head into a tangle of convolvulus, and in struggling to get free had only drawn the noose tighter. He had known in Africa creatures to be trapped accidentally in this way but never strangled. Rodents when they got their feet entangled in creepers in this manner could, of course, bite themselves free, but fowl, say, of the water-hen type, had no such way of escape.

Mr. Cedric Flood, present Superintendent of the "Zoo," said that he had known wild ducks to be deliberately trapped in this manner on rivers in the North-East Frontier districts of India. The natives there were accustomed to putting a noose of plant fibre on the water with a piece of food in the middle of it. When the duck poked its head into the noose they immediately pulled the ends of it tight.

On a majority, therefore, the verdict might be returned as death from misadventure—in accordance with the gardener's evidence.

NEW BREAD ORDER

The restrictions on the serving of bread or other wheaten foods in restaurants and other catering establishments, at subscription dances, race meetings, sports meetings, whist or bridge drives, bazaars, carnivals or sales of work have been withdrawn by the Department of Agriculture.

LATE NEWS

BOMB IN CO. ANTRIM

ATTEMPT ON BARRACKS

It was learned early to-day that an attempt had been made to destroy the police barracks at Randalstown, Co. Antrim, with a bomb.

It is understood that the bomb, with a set time-fuse, placed outside the window of the day-room, exploded and the room was extensively damaged. Sergeant McCammon, who was in charge, was thrown off his feet, and received injuries. He was taken to hospital.

IN THE SOLOMONS

NEW LANDINGS

Although the Japanese have made new landings at several points of the South-Eastern Solomons, the American shore bases in the Guadalcanal and Tulagi areas "are steadily being reinforced and strengthened," states a Washington Navy Department communiqué early to-day. Japanese parties which succeeded in landing were being hunted down by U.S. marines.—Press Association and Reuter.)

The communiqué states that U.S. aircraft at the Guadalcanal base attacked and hit ships engaged in the landings. On Wednesday morning a Flying Fortress off the North coast of Santa Isabel Island damaged a Japanese tanker or seaplane tender, leaving it burning. About the same time 18 Japanese bombers escorted by fighters attacked the U.S. Guadalcanal installation. Three bombers and five fighters were shot down.

BINDER TWINE SHORTAGE

The Department of Supplies has no supplies of binder twine under its control, and it has been ascertained that all available supplies have already been distributed to retailers by the manufacturers and wholesalers.

This announcement has been made by the Department of Agriculture in view of the numerous requests for supplies of binder twine which are being made direct to the Department itself. They advise growers who have not now secured adequate supplies of twine for binders to arrange to adopt other means of harvesting their grain crop.

FEWER SWEETS

SUGAR SUPPLIES CUT

Because the Government is allocating only eighty per cent. of the normal supplies of sugar to sweet manufacturers, there is a likelihood that sweets may disappear, to a certain extent, underneath shop counters.

This is the first cut in the sugar allocation which manufacturers have experienced since the outbreak of war. In 1940 they were informed that they could not increase their production, but were assured that, for the time being at any rate, they would receive a hundred per cent. of their pre-war supplies.

This move by the Government will counteract the effect which the reduction of the individual sugar ration may have upon the public. In the last war, when sugar was drastically rationed, people turned to sweets, and manufacturers had feared that a similar reaction would occur this time.

Wholesalers are philosophical about the matter. "It is neither more nor less than I expected," a representative of a leading Dublin firm told an Irish Times reporter yesterday. "We expected a cut, and it has come." Asked whether it would affect any particular brand of sweet, the manufacturers replied: "No; it will hit them all equally hard, and quantity, not quality, will be affected."

There is a happier side to Eire's sweet problem, however. An English visitor, ordering half a pound of peppermints in a Dublin shop yesterday, remarked: "Sweets are rationed here, of course." When told that they were not, she doubled her order.

POLICE BURNED ALIVE

INDIAN PRISON MUTINY

A police sub-inspector and two constables were burnt alive by a mob at Rupauli, says a delayed report, mentioned in a Reuter message from Patna. A collective fine of £7,500 has been imposed on six villages in the Patna district by the Bihar Government. Calcutta reports that 20 prisoners and one warder were killed and more than 136 persons injured in a disturbance at Dacca Jail on Monday. It appears that security prisoners transferred from Calcutta mutinied and refused to work and it was impossible to restore order without opening fire.

Specialists in their Profession

Most delicate and vital organs, the eyes require constant and skilled attention if their sight is to be preserved. It is folly to have them treated by inexperienced or unqualified examiners. Specialists in their profession, GEO. PRESCOTT & SON have been providing the public with a first-class optical service since 1875, sponsoring and utilising the latest developments of scientific research, and restoring good sight to thousands of people. They would be pleased to give you a thorough test and advise you on the precise condition of your eyes.

LIGHT ON PENAL LAWS IN IRELAND

KENMARE FAMILY PAPERS

A PAPAL Bull of the year 1725, a Book of Hours of the 14th century, more than a hundred letters written by a Kerry lady who was the wife of the Portuguese Ambassador in London in the early 1700's, the private note-book of Ireland's leading Roman Catholic landlord of the Penal Law period—these are among the valuable documents lately found in an examination of a huge collection of private papers, undertaken by the Irish Manuscripts Commission.

The papers are those of the Kenmare family. Their existence was brought to the notice of the Manuscripts Commission by Mr. Eoin O'Mahony, of Cork, who, without knowing what the collection contained, thought that an examination of it was bound to yield something of value.

Accordingly, Mr. Edward MacLysaght, of the Manuscripts Commission, visited Killarney, the seat of the family, and was given permission to examine the family documents. Most of them were stored in an attic of the estate office, where apparently they had been brought after the fire which destroyed the Kenmare mansion about 1912. Owing perhaps to the circumstances in which their removal had taken place, the papers were in the greatest confusion. A few, such as the Papal Bull and the Book of Hours, had been kept carefully, but many of the others were packed away in old bags and sacks and boxes. Some of the letters of the Portuguese Ambassador's wife, for example, were found sandwiched among late nineteenth century receipts, and a few were found packed away in an old fireplace.

YEAR'S WORK

Most of the papers were in good condition, but some, especially the old ledgers, had been attacked by the very damp atmosphere of the place, which had left many pages undecipherable.

The examination of the papers took place chiefly in Killarney, and kept Mr. MacLysaght occupied for the greater part of a year. In addition to examining and cataloguing the papers, he has been copying long extracts from the most interesting ones. This work is now completed, and his notes on the papers and his extracts from them will be published shortly in a large volume by the Manuscripts Commission.

RARE DOCUMENT

In his office yesterday Mr. MacLysaght gave an Irish Times reporter some account of his discoveries. The Papal Bull mentioned above is one of the very few of this period known to be in Ireland. It is on a single sheet of parchment, with a large seal. It was issued by Pope Benedict XIII. in 1725, and it confers on the Earl of Kenmare the rare privilege of appointing the parish priest of two Kerry parishes of Killarney and Kilcummin, and also the privilege of having the blessed Sacrament kept in his house.

The letters referred to are those of Kathleen Browne, sister of that Viscount Kenmare who had to go into exile because of his support of the Jacobite cause. She was married to de Cunha, the Portuguese Ambassador in London, and her letters, which cover the period 1716-1726, give a good idea of the difficulties of English Catholics of that day, of their constant fear of being compromised in a Jacobite plot, and of the burden of the special taxation imposed on them. They give also an amusing picture of some of the lighter sides of the life of that day. One example quoted by Mr. MacLysaght was an account of a country house party at which Madame da Cunha was a guest, and at which the ladies played backgammon from breakfast till dinner and penny ombre from dinner till supper.

"REFORMATION"

Another example was a report by the chaplain of the exiled Viscount, who from time to time apparently fell into intemperate habits. The chaplain, however, on one occasion reported an improvement in his master's conduct. "He never drinks between meals," he noted, "except with company worth while, and that seldom above two bottles at a time." This was described by his sister as a "thorough reformation."

For the purely Irish historian, Mr. MacLysaght thinks that the most valuable of the papers are the legal documents relating to proceedings instituted under the Penal Code, and the notebook of the fourth Viscount, who has set out in his book notes on his dealings in the 1750s and 1760s with tenants all over his vast estate of 130,000 acres in Kerry, Cork and Limerick. In these notes he states the kind of lease the tenants held, the changes in the rent, and his own—sometimes very strong—opinions of the worth of his tenants as farmers.

Allowing for the period in which these notes were written, Mr. MacLysaght thinks that they show the Lord Kenmare of that time as a very considerate landlord, with very advanced ideas on the practice of agriculture.

MOST VALUABLE

Altogether the collection contains several thousand items, and in Mr. MacLysaght's opinion is one of the most valuable which ever came under the notice of the Manuscripts Commission. "I cannot think of any other papers," he said, "which give so much detailed information as to how the Penal Laws worked out in practice, especially in the matter of tenure of land. Of course, we had known the theory of these laws, which has been written about by Lecky and others, but we have been very much in the dark about their practical effect. Much valuable information will be available when these papers are published, and I should be very happy if it would encourage some historian to undertake a work which we very much need—a history of the operation of the Penal Laws."

CEMENT SUPPLIES

EFFECT ON BUILDERS

The worst fears of Irish master builders, caused by the announcement on July 22 of drastic limitation of cement supplies, have not been realised. Yesterday the Secretary of the Irish Federation of Builders told an Irish Times reporter that he had not heard of any case in which a private builder had been refused supplies necessary for carrying on work which he had in hand.

The original announcement did not make any provision for granting supplies for the finishing of private jobs. It merely stated that cement would be provided to finish work now in progress for the State and for local authorities. It also stated that the total quantity of cement required for defence and A.R.P. purposes and for works now in progress exceeded the anticipated supply, so that it was necessary to reduce consumption to a minimum.

Though the position seems to have eased somewhat, it is not likely that builders would undertake new private contracts unless they are for work of national importance, such as the extension of factory premises, which would give employment.

It is thought that the present position regarding supplies will continue until the end of October, when a review of the situation will be made and a decision taken as to supplies for the next period of three months.

GRAIN BUYERS WARNED

A warning from the Department of Agriculture appears in our advertising columns that strong action, including acquisition of the grain, will be taken against persons who are found in possession of wheat or barley purchased illegally. Traders and agents may not lawfully purchase wheat or barley of the 1942 crop unless they hold licences issued under the Emergency Powers (Cereals) Order, 1942. A deduction of not less than 6s., or more than 8s., per ton from the standard price must be made where wheat or barley is collected from the farm.

FIGHT FOR CRICKET HONOURS

BY P. D. MacSWEENEY.

The Senior Cricket League enters its concluding stage to-morrow, for only one fixture—Merrion v. Civil Service—will be outstanding after that date. The struggle for the championship has been one of the closest and most interesting in the history of the competition—and it may well result in a tie. Pembroke and Merrion are level at the top, and if both win to-morrow there will, no doubt, be a play-off for the title. That does not exhaust the possibilities, however, for if both lose and Y.M.C.A. win, the latter will be on top, while it is also possible for Merrion to triumph if they beat Y.M.C.A. and the leaders both fail. A win in their last game will give Civil Service would give them the necessary points.

On the whole, I think we can confine our predictions to Leinster and Phoenix, for, strange as the results have been this season, it hardly likely that they will both suffer defeat. Phoenix are more favourably situated for their opponents, Clontarf, have not the same all-round strength as Pembroke, who provide the opposition in Leinster, but on the last two weeks Phoenix have been showing capital form, and, even though the Clontarf batting will be greatly strengthened by the return of N. C. Mahony, their leading opener, on the 7th, Ruddock, the schools' star, a Phoenix win, on their own ground, is likely.

Leinster nearly always find Pembroke a tough nut, and this game at Rathmines will be worth seeing. I rather fancy that the home team, with their varied attack, may fail to do better than draw, for, if the Williams brothers are in form, the Pembroke batting will be stubborn. The Irish trial game between Merrion and Y.M.C.A. at Anglesea road, which ended in favour of Merrion, by dismissing some batting collapses at times, they impress as being more solid than their opponents in all departments.

HAROLD'S CROSS GREYHOUNDS

IRISH YEARLINGS FOR NEWMARKET

BY OUR CURRAGH CORRESPONDENT.

Already in the chief stables at headquarters there is a fair complement of grandlooking and high-bred yearlings, and this, the Curragh correspondent of the Irish Field says, is the month which will be availed of for further replenishment. Owners who are in a position to buy privately from the principal breeding establishments are making new acquisitions, thereby availing themselves of existing opportunities.

It is not unlikely that several owners and breeders will travel to Newmarket for the Sales there. The recent published prices paid by the late Mr. Stanley Gladstone's stock has made all our forefront breeders, whose annual sales are made on the other side, rather optimistic, and this will be a busy year for yearlings, at the National Stud, Kildare, and in the market. The Tully Stud has this season received a considerable boost from the success of later ante of Flying Game and of Mr. Charlie Clarke's contingent from the Eyrefield Stud also has left for Newmarket.

An interesting item of news over last week-end was that Mr. David Prangley had leased from Mrs. E. C. J. Maher the two fillies, Sleat and Trimster. The former is a grey, by Fairway from Blanco, and the latter a bay by Trimdon —Consentaine. The majority of Mrs. Maher's yearlings leased in the last few seasons have done remarkably well on the turf.

YACHTING

There was almost a regatta in miniature at the Lancashire Yacht Club on Saturday, when over 30 entries in the various handicaps of the Yacht Racing and the War Club. In the 21-feet handicap of the former club, Maureen Asthore scored a good first at the expense of Mr. Gerald Dease's Mona, and from Geraldine, the second in the handicap with Odin third, and then Gannets and Mona.

Among the 27-footers, Blues was first home, with Mr. Aubrey Roe's handicap Rosaleen second, and Mr. Gerald Dease's Mona third. Mr. Roe's boat also won one of the silver cups.

Mr. Macmillan started in their particular race, and steers the Rosaleen to the winning line was Miss. Daphne Amy Oonagh, Rabr Dabchick, Pilot Maids, Stella and Tuano, the first named just squeezing the prize on handicap. Of the Cruiser, Mr. Roe was in second first to finish with Tuano second, this pair also taking the prize on handicap.

Cruising for the Wans who sailed a special course for prizes presented by the Vice-Commodore of the Royal Irish Y.C., Vera scored a narrow win from Mary Kate, with Mollie and Dorabella close up.

NEW QUARTERS FOR DUBLIN CROCODILES

To accommodate a rapidly lengthening crocodile, the Dublin "Zoo" authorities have had to knock the side out of the reptile house. The animal which has caused all this trouble is one which arrived here from Malaya in 1938. It was then a modest little creature of 3 feet 10 inches long, as measured by the Superintendent, Mr. C. Flood.

To accommodate it with adequate privacy the large pond in the middle of the reptile house was partitioned, one half being given to the new arrival and another to the senior resident crocodile, an elderly gentleman approaching his fiftieth year, and, at 8 feet, apparently past his growing pains.

The pond then seemed large, but as the young crocodile continued to grow, it has now made the pond seem small. The creature is now 11 feet long, and has to live with a permanent bend near its middle. To complicate matters, it is still growing. It was obviously necessary to provide better accommodation, and the "Zoo" authorities decided to do things in the grand style. They knocked out one end of the reptile house and on to it have built a kind of semi-circular apse about 25 feet wide.

TROPICAL SCENERY

Here, behind glass, the two crocodiles will disport themselves on a synthetic tropical scene. The elements of the synthesis are a quantity of ultra-marine cement, mixed on a kind of palette outside, and shaped into a pond occupying half the space. This will give the water a Mediterranean blue tinge. The other half of the apse is of another kind of coloured cement, which will make it resemble a stretch of golden sand. The semi-circular wall at the back will provide a background on which the Superintendent hopes to find an artist to paint some florid tropical scenery in the manner of the Douanier Rousseau.

The progress of this construction work will be reported at the last of the members' breakfasts, which will be held to-morrow. The members will also be told of the photograph competitions, which are to remain open till November 1st.

SLIGO BARYTES INDUSTRY

Many problems in the paint, chemical, and other trades will be solved by the installation at Pontalbeg barytes mines of the latest micraniser machine, which grinds the ore to an extreme fineness, it was stated by Mr. Wm. Walsh, chairman of Benbulben Barytes, Ltd., at the company's opening ceremony in Sligo yesterday.

An aerial ropeway was to bring the ore down the mountainside, so steep that it would be impossible to get a lorry road to be transported by that means alone. On one of the best sites of the deep water quay, they had erected a well-equipped factory.

Although, said Mr. Walsh, they were told that they had no coal, no barytes, no minerals of any kind, defeatism of that sort was contrary to the truth. But, while mineral development was to be received the utmost encouragement, orders from taxation and export subsidies were necessary and a few other similar things were needed to put the point of confiscation. On their export of 80 per cent. of output they were compelled to pay the crushing tax of 75 per cent. on profits. He appealed to the Minister for Finance—to whom representations had been made—to place them in the matter of taxation, on a par with foreign competitors.

Other speakers included: The Mayor of Sligo; Mr. D. M. Hanley, Chairman of Chamber of Commerce; Mr. M. W. O'Reilly, Mr. Tom O'Connor, Mr. Burgess Quarry, General Manager of Benbulben; Mr. D. Maguire, T.D., secretary; and Mr. J. C. Cole.

The premises were blessed by the Most Rev. Dr. Doorly, Bishop of Elphin, assisted by the Very Rev. J. Hannon, P.P., Adm., V.F., Sligo.

Alderman W. P. Nolan, Mayor, performed the opening ceremony.

HOME MADE ELECTRICITY

Engineering instructors from all over Eire have just completed a course of instruction at the Technical Institute, Cork, on the manufacture of apparatus for the home production of electric light and power. The principal object was to investigate the possibilities of utilising scrap material from disused motor cars and engines to construct a small plant powered by wind or steam in rural areas for lighting purposes. During the course a number of small lighting sets were actually constructed. A good deal of useful information was exchanged.

INFANT MORTALITY

DOCTORS SEEK CAUSE

Dublin doctors all this summer have been seeking the mysterious germs which recent years has caused the deaths of hundreds of Irish babies from gastro-enteritis.

This disease was very prevalent in Dublin and Cork last year, and a special Advisory Committee was set up by the Minister for Local Government to investigate the cause and remedy. This year, as the Irish Times pointed out recently, the number of cases has been very much reduced, and this fact has been attributed to the investigations of the Advisory Committee.

"This disease continues to be one of the main causes of infant mortality, and the principal contributing factor was (as in every year since investigation has taken place) the substitution of artificial feeding for breast feeding." This phrase taken from the report of the Medical Officer of Health of the County Borough of Cork, refers to 197 cases of epidemic diarrhoea during the year 1941. Thirty-nine deaths were recorded attributed to a mortality rate of 19.8 per cent.).

The report states that the point about artificial feeding of infants being the principal contributory factor has been emphasised in "one and one" details. It would appear that there is far too much reliance to recommend and resort to artificial feeding on the part of mothers and professional attendants. The results can only be said to be disastrous.

Dr. M. J. Russell, Dublin Medical Officer of Health and member of the Advisory Committee, set out in a circular to Minister for Local Government and Public Health to seek a more precise knowledge of the etiology and prevention of these diseases, and was responsible with Professor Conway for the inquiries. The fact remains, however, he said, "that there is some other contributory cause and that is what we are trying to discover. This is proved by the fact that many children who are situated are either breast-fed or goes beyond the period of breast feeding."

DEALING IN BRANDY

Prosecuted for dealing in brandy without a wholesale license, and for harbouring large quantities of brandy, Desmond McGrattly, of Ormond Park, Dublin, was fined £125, or, in default, three months' imprisonment, at Belfast yesterday. Samuel Moore, of Downs street, Smithfield, was fined £101, and ordered twelve months' imprisonment, without hard labour, in a similar prosecution. Immediate warrants were issued against both defendants.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Thursday.—The stock exchange opened steadily with trading quiet. Rescted Stock lifted moderately higher in the afternoon, but many of the leaders were unchanged. Except for scattered Preferred issues—notably Ulen—prices were dull and declining generally, often by a fractional) margin throughout, with numerous issues unchanged. The trend at the close was irregular.

Sent of Kinchasella. — At Dun Laoghaire yesterday, District Justice Lennon ordered the bagging to Dublin of a sweepstake ticket. Daniel Winslow, of Sligo, was fined £50 for the offence, obtaining £99 10/- from Mrs. C. Hayes, of Oliver Plunkett avenue, Monkstown, in connection with the sweepstake on the Irish Derby, which was held last June. Mr. Winslow said he had no case for later payments and been made.

Is Grey Hair making YOU look OLD

Restore your hair to its natural youthful colour and beauty with Mahler's Hair Tint. Used for years all over the world. It's not only possible, it's easy, safe, quick and inexpensive. Make-up the following mixture: To a bare half-pint of water add one ounce of Bay Rum. Then mix in contents of one small box Orlex Compound. Finally add a quarter ounce of glycerine. Any chemist can supply these ingredients or make up the mixture. Applied twice weekly, this non-greasy, non-sticky home-made mixture soon gives your hair the glow of youthful colour—and it doesn't colour the scalp. Get rid of grey hair short-to-day—the Orlex way.

USE GAS SPARINGLY
ELIMINATE 'OFF' HOUR USE
The response to the Company's appeal for more economy in the use of gas has been insufficient, and greater efforts are necessary to reduce consumption.
Moreover, many consumers are still endeavouring to use gas during the prohibited hours, and, in the present emergency, with the worsening conditions of gas manufacture, this abuse must stop. Active steps to discover offenders are still in operation and stricter penalties will be enforced.
SAVING GAS WILL NOT ONLY PERMIT LONGER "ON" HOURS, IT WILL ALSO ENABLE YOU TO MEET THE BURDEN OF AN INCREASED PRICE.
Issued in the public interest by the Alliance & Dublin Consumers' Gas Co.
